As some students struggle to complete high school, LULAC hosts this free event every year during the LULAC National Convention to reduce the dropout rate, address current issues that may affect their future, and provide them with motivation and tools to help them continue their education. We know that once students learn more about the endless opportunities to succeed before them, their lives may be changed.

This symposium empowers students with information about diverse opportunities that exist within the federal government (civilian and/or armed forces), while also focusing on the impact that bullying and social media may have while trying to achieve their academic and professional goals. Throughout the day, attendees will interact with representatives from different agencies who will provide guidance regarding scholarships, internships and employment opportunities for current high school students.

In addition to this half -day event, we expect to draw over 10,000 attendees throughout the week. Mark your calendars for July 5-7 and attend the free events open to the public. Some of these events include policy workshops with expert panelists, a career fair, a fun and family-friendly expo hall, and a concert on Saturday July 8, 2017. Entrance to the concert is free for symposium attendees. Students can pick up tickets during the symposium. An adult must accompany all minors.

For more information, please contact: Sara Clemente, LULAC National Director of Federal Affairs, at SClemente@LULAC.org and/or Jayne at jelce@lulac.org.

We look forward to working with your students and your participation!
