  Track A
  Red Badge
  Location: Riverside Ballroom (3rd Floor)
  10:15 am-11:10 am Working Towards Financial Freedom: Advancing Financial Literacy for Latinas
  When Latinas thrive financially, so does the U.S. Economy. With a $2.6 Trillion GDP and a robust labor supply, we want Latinos, especially Latinas, to own their financial future by putting their income to work and outlining a plan towards financial independence. Improving your financial literacy can be within reach; learn best practices on increasing your earning potential through investing and building wealth, establishing a safety net of an emergency fund, and the importance of good credit health and your retirement plan.
  Welcome: Hon. Nitza Moran, Senator - District of San Juan, Puerto Rico
  Moderator: Dr. Rene Rodriguez, Professor, University of Puerto Rico Bayamon Campus
  Panelist: Ruben Barrales, Senior Vice President, External Engagement, Wells Fargo & Co.
    Eva Porter, Financial Representative - Independence Planning Group
    Alexis Fernandez, Strategies for Wealth

  11:10 am -11:15 am - 5 minute Break

  11:15 am-12:10 pm Warrior Women and Self-Care: The State of Latinas and Mental Health Latinas play a vital role in the physical, spiritual, and mental well-being of their families. That role was put to the test when the COVID-19 pandemic required us to quarantine, forcing us to shift life as we know it almost overnight. While Latinas continue to work hard at lifting their family and loved ones during these challenging times, many have allowed themselves to play a backdrop when in actuality, by putting themselves first, they benefit everyone they care for most. This panel will take a deep dive into the importance of self-care and prioritizing your mental health so that you show up strong and ready to continue being that bright light for others. What can you do in as little as 10 mins that will help your light shine bright and continue illuminating and elevating? What lifestyle shifts need to take place to make investing in your mental health a priority?

Welcome: Consuelo Vargas, LULAC Women’s Commission, Elderly Representative
Moderator: Anny Cordero, LULAC Connecticut State Director
Panelists:
  Dr. Dinorah Nieves, Celebrity Life Coach, Behavioral Scientist,
